MANAGING IN A MULTICULTURAL ENVIRONMENT BEFORE & BEYOND

Project
Management Institute.
Westchester, NY

Before: Start with the Tone at the Top

Beyond: increased accountability for culture....

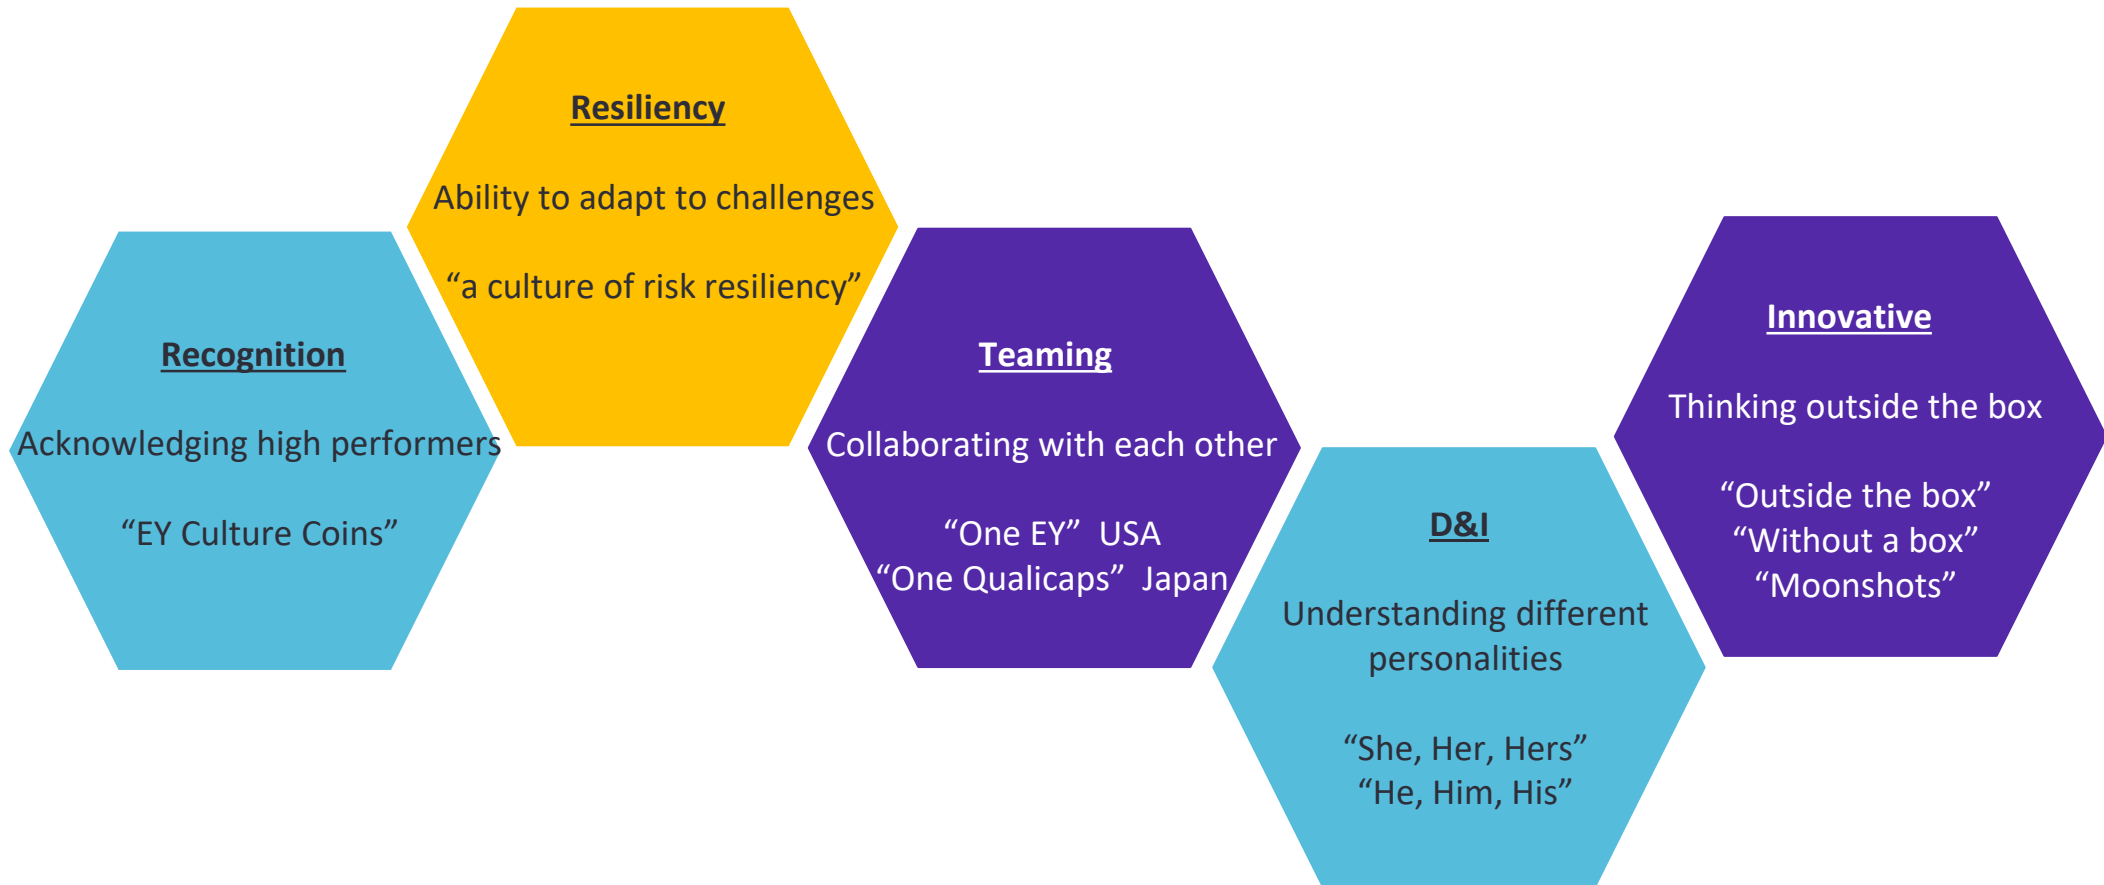

Regulators: requiring disclosure of human capital measures, including culture

Institutional investors: requiring increasing metrics and transparency

Boards: responding to external and internal demands for greater disclosure

Business leaders: moving from stockholders to stakeholders requires an intentional design and evolution of the desired culture through a holistic mosaic of practices and behaviors

Managing in a Multicultural Environment: evolving towards a culture of growth and innovation

Consider these actions

Tone at the top, Tone in the middle, Tone at the bottom

Define a clear strategy for creating a culture of innovation

Seek out different & new voices, with new skills

Promote a culture of innovation through collaboration

Continuous improvement.
Measure,
monitor, modify.

Managing in a Multicultural Environment: managing impact of national cultures

Consider these actions

Cultural profile and other self-assessments to raise awareness

Provide training to be open & non-judgemental and build on similarities and not differences

Continue to build on commonalities. Describe your current culture today, align on what your future culture aspirations is for tomorrow

Align around 3 key behaviors your organization wants to do “more of” and “less of”

Make personal commitment for at least one of these key behaviors

MANAGING IN A A MULTICULTURAL ENVIRONMENT

GENERATIONAL CHALLENGES

Project
Management Institute.
Westchester, NY

What if you had to manage a work force with 7 generations?

What if you had to manage a work force with 7 generations virtually or entirely off premises?

Beyond: New elements are taking center stage

To make belonging possible, organizations seek to be more intentional in their approach to policies and practices and eliminate unintended biases and structural inequities

Beyond: Motivations for being in the office vary across generations

? Why would you like to return to the office?

Reason	Baby Boomer	Gen X	Millennial	Gen Z
I want to stay socially connected (idea of belonging)
I collaborate with my colleagues
The role/ nature of my work requires me to be with others
I would like access to better working resources (network, tech support, office workspace)
I want to build and maintain mentoring relationships
My manager expects me to be in the office

? What's important to you?

44%

Gen Z: Taking Vacations

66%

Millennials: Taking
vacations

78%

Millennials: Enjoying time with family and friends

65%

Gen Z:

Be kind.
Think Human

Stop making it about profit. It's about people. If you don't act responsibly, there will not be any people left to purchase your products. Steward don't sell

“

Although companies exist to make money, they should also balance that by giving access to the poor for their products and services

Encourage and uplift minorities and youth. They are the future and including them in your decisions is powerful

Find more eco-friendly ways to do things and increase access for everyone

Your actions should be based on the people that run your companies first and foremost. Ensuring that you are doing right by your consumers and employees will ensure you have a happy workforce and consumers will want to buy from an ethical company

Managing in a Multicultural Environment: leading generational transformation

Consider these actions

Recognize differences between generations and even among generations e.g. millennials

Recognize independent, entrepreneurial spirit of Gen Z

Recognize younger generations'
hunger to learn

Recognize priorities
outside of work, creating sense of community, mental health and well being.
